MAYOR ARLENE PLEDGES DEEPER COMMITMENT TO HER SANTA ROSA FAMILY

Monday July 1 is not only the first day of Mayor Arlene B. Arcillas’ birth month; it is also her first day of assumption of office as the City Mayor of the City of Santa Rosa.

Though she was also able to serve the people of Santa Rosa while in Congress, she said that “Bumalik ang inyong lingkod para sa inyo... because you always go back to where your heart belongs.”

Mayor Arlene served the City of Santa Rosa as Mayor for three terms in 2007, 2010 and 2013. Prior to that, she served as Kabataang Barangay Federation President of then town of Santa Rosa in 1984; elected Senior Councilor in 2004, elevated to City Vice Mayor in 2005, and assumed as OIC Mayor in 2006.

Remembering her father, the late Mayor Leon C. Arcillas, Mayor Arlene said that her father’s love for the people of the city was endowed to the entire family as well, and that is why the hearts of the Arcillas family will be with the people for always.

She said that the city has been steadily developing, and it is her dream that everyone will also feel it in their own lives and households, and vowed to work doubly hard so people can really feel and benefit in its growth.

Promising to continue her administration’s practice of participatory governance, Mayor Arlene said that she, along with the other newly elected officials, will be needing the support of the people especially the employees of the city government.

“Sa pagkakapanalo namin ay kasama namin kayo na maglilingkod. Kaya patunayan ninyo na kaisa ninyo kami, na kasama namin kayo para lalo pa umangat (at) gumanda ang Lungsod ng Santa Rosa na mararamdaman ng bawat isa,” she said.

Mayor Arlene took her oath office with Secretary Menardo Guevarra of the Department of Justice as officiating officer. In the past, her oaths of office were also administered by key officials from the Justice Department which, according to her, attests to her commitment to give justice to her constituents. “Hustisyang bawat isang mamamayan ay makakamit... na makapamahay nang tama para sa pamilya at sarili,” she said.

She also shared that she, along with other select elected officials, also took their oaths with no less than President Rodrigo Duterte as officiating officer. On top of these, she said that she places utmost importance to the promise she made to the people.

Makabayan legislators’ probe vs. Pepmaco

"We ask all legislators to probe companies that practice widespread contractualization and use physical violence to suppress workers' rights," said KMU secretary-general Jerome Adonis.

Mayor Arlene will serve the city along with the new set officials namely Hon. Arnel Gomez, as Sangguniang Panlungsod Presiding Officer; Hon. Sonia Algabre, Hon. Mythor Cendaña, Hon. Ina Clariza Cartagena, Hon. Laudemer Carta, Hon. Roy Gonzales, Hon. Ma. Theresa Aala, Hon. Rodrigo Malapitan, Hon. Antonio Tuzon Jr., Hon. Wilfredo Castro and Hon. hold Peerless Manufacturing Inc. (Pepmaco) accountable for gross labor laws violations and the violent dispersal of workers’ strike in the wee hours of 28 June at the gates of the Pepmaco Canlubang plant.

KMU commends the representatives from the Makabayan Bloc for filing House Resolution Nos. 27, 28 and 29 as the 18th Congress opened.

The resolutions filed call for a House inquiry on the labor-only contracting scheme of Pepmaco, which covers more than 500 workers, and the alleged violations of the Occupational Safety and Health (OSH) Law as contractual workers complain that they were subjected to unsafe working conditions, which often resulted to work-related injuries.

As principal authors of the OSH Law who worked for the passage of the law in 2018, the Makabayan Bloc representatives push to use the complaints of contractual workers against Pepmaco as test case for the enforcement of the OSH Law.

"The resolutions send a strong statement of support for workers," said Adonis. (EFREN CHAVEZ)

Floating solar farms as payaos? Piñol wants to know

DAVAO CITY – Agriculture Secretary Emmanuel Piñol on Friday said he wanted to know if the floating solar farms developed by power company, SN Aboitiz, could also be used as fish aggregating devices or payaos.

Piñol said that while the main purpose of the floating solar power farms, which SN Aboitiz Power had initially put up in Magat Dam in Ramon, Isabela, is to provide power for small communities, he also wanted to know if these can be used to increase fishermen's catch.

He said a meeting involving the Department of Agriculture (DA), the Bureau of Fisheries and Aquatic Re-farms also serve as a Fish Aggregating Device or 'Payao' to increase fishermen's catch?," Piñol asked.

He said payaos are the traditional method of providing an artificial haven that fishermen use to attract small fish species that big fish prey on.

"It is in the 'payao' where local fishermen using handlines catch high-value fish like Tuna, Malasugue and others attracted by the small species," Piñol said.

He said if this would also be viable as a form of payao, the DA would be saving on expenses.

Piñol said currently, the BFAR spends about PHP250,000 for each isolated fishing islands," he said.

Piñol said he also directed Agriculture Undersecretary Eduardo Gongona, the BFAR National Executive Director, to form a technical team to determine if the floating solar farms could run ice-making equipment and cold storage facilities.

"This will provide an immediate solution to the problem of fishermen who live on remote and isolated islands, who have been asking for ice-making facilities so they could bring their catch to the market," he said.

Piñol said he was looking at establishing the first floating solar power devices in Tawi-Tawi or Sulu "if proven viable." (PNA)
